

INVITATION

Networking event Ready to take off

Alte Mensa

07.11.2025

4:00 PM - 7:00 PM

01 Introduction & Welcome

02 Keynote - A look into the future
of aerospace

03 Projects/pitches by students

04 A look into the engineering of companies

05 Get together

connect@tha.de

@internationaloffice
@careerservice

As part of our strategic focus on practical education and international networking, we would like to invite you to our upcoming event “Ready to Take Off” at the Augsburg University of Applied Sciences.

Our networking event brings together the international diversity of THA and the innovative strength of its technical and non-technical degree programs. It connects students, researchers, and companies to share ideas that transcend borders.

➤ Aim of the event

Our aim is to provide practical insights into economic and technological contexts and, at the same time, to create initial points of contact for further cooperation between students and companies.

➤ Why you should be there

- Interdisciplinary visibility and image enhancement of the degree program
- Networking with business and research
- Exchange in an interactive setting

➤ What awaits you

- a central moderation
- exciting keynote speeches/pitches
- space for exchange and networking

Your contribution can be structured flexibly—whether it's based on experience with similar formats, concrete project insights, or a topic that's particularly close to your heart, or you simply join the event as a guest.

➤ Language & Target Group

The event will be held in English to enable our international students in particular to participate actively.

If you are interested in participating or would like further information, we look forward to hearing from you.

Together we want to develop a format that inspires, connects and opens up perspectives – Ready to Take Off!

More Information
and Registration:

<https://www.tha.de/en/International/International-Office/Ready-To-Take-Off.html>