

High-voltage electrolysis – measurement infrastructure & experimental validation (existing prototype)

Based on an existing master's thesis and a prototype: improvement of the measurement infrastructure (sensor technology, data acquisition, safety concept), definition of robust measurement protocols, and implementation/analysis of further measurement series. The focus is on clean experimental methodology and reproducibility of results.

Qualification level: Advanced Bachelor or Master level